KANSAS CITIZENS HANG ASSAULTER OF GIRL SUNDAY NIGHT

MAN IS TWICE MOVED BY SHERIFF BUT IS FINALLY TRACKED AND CAPTURED

SAINT FRANCIS, Kans., April 18.—(P)—Mob vengeance today claimed the life of Richard Read, 53, confessed attacker and slayer of 8-year-old Dorothy Hunter.

Read, who was protected twice Saturday from rapidly forming mobs by a quick thinking sheriff, was located in the Cheyenne county jail where he had been hidden away.

A mob estimated at 200 heavily armed men, motored swiftly into Saint Francis late last night, seized Sheriff A. A. Bacon and Deputy J. H. Indors, obtained keys to the jail and departed with their prisoner.

Leaving Saint Francis, the automobile caravan headed eastward toward Selden, 75 miles away, home of the school girl victim and her attacker.

About midway between the two small towns and near Atwood, the motorists halted. A rope was suspended from a tree and Read was swung to his doom.

Only a few miles away, in Atwood, was Governor Harry H. Woodring of Kansas, who arrived today on a political campaign tour. Police officers of Rawlins county, of which Atwood is the county seat, failed to intercept the mob when the caravan left the town.

In highway, the place on the Ed Lyman ranch. More than a score of years ago Chauncey DePew was hanged on a neighboring tract. He died for the slaying of a family in a cattleman's feed.

Read was hurried to Saint Francis yesterday ahead of fifty automobile loads of angry men, after he had led Sheriff Ed McGinley of Thomas county to a hay stack in which he had hidden the girl's body.

Dorothy had been missing since Thursday evening when she returned to the Selden school house for her forgotten dinner bucket. Read, a neighbor, was arrested because of his previous conviction of assaulting a 15-year-old girl in Colorado. Officers said he confessed he had lured Dorothy to his camp with a string of beads, then attacked and beat her to death.

Many Thousand
Chinese Killed
In Recent Quake

HANKOW, China, April 18.—(P)—Belated reports reaching here today through a Chinese source from southeast Hupeh Province said an earthquake took a toll of "several tens of thousands of persons" there April 6 in several towns and villages of the province.

The reports said the quake slightly jarred the Yangtze Valley and they painted a picture of appalling conditions. Their latest news was taken from illustrations of the lack of communications in the interior.

The dispatches concluded that the quakes had been "a terrible visitation on a people who already had suffered from the plunderings of communists and bandits."

ARREST OF MAN AND WOMAN
IN KIDNAPING OF DELAWARE
GIRL EXPECTED DURING DAY

WILMINGTON, Del., April 18.—(P)—With Hilda Brodsky, 8, returned to her home unharmed, one man was reported under arrest today in connection with the kidnaping of the girl and a known Philadelphia Police officer, however, denied there had been any arrest. The man reported to have been taken into custody was said to have been questioned in Wilmington since midnight.

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—(P)—Authorities predicted the arrest today of a man and woman alleged to have kidnaped nine-year-old Hilda Brodsky for $50,000 ransom from Wilmington, Del., Friday. They said they knew the kidnappers.

Hilda was dropped from an automobile at the parish home of the Rev. Fr. Joseph Pugliese here yesterday and taken home hysterical but unharmed. Father Pugliese and police declared no ransom was paid.

Slayer and Victim

Confronted with fingerprint evidence, Glenn Shustrom, of Whiting, Ind., broke down and confessed that he had attacked and afterwards murdered twelve-year-old Susan Alberta Knight (inset), who was found strangled in a Whiting rooming house operated by her mother. Shustrom's arrest was brought about by fingerprints he left on the dead girl's bed.

LITTLE PROSPECT FOR RENEWAL WAR
DEBT MORATORIUM

DESPITE SEN. JOHNSON'S CHARGE, HOOVER NOT EX-PECTED SUGGEST IT

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Despite Senator Johnson's prediction that another moratorium on war debts will be forthcoming when the present one expires in June, there is no expectation in administration quarters that President Hoover will initiate such a step.

Since the Californian gave his views to the senate last week, new contributions to the debts question as put forth by Alfred E. Smith and Nicholas Murray Butler have been getting study. But it can hardly be said that suggestions for adjustments of the debts have had any real effect.

It remains to be seen how far former Governor Smith will get with his plan for a 20-year moratorium, during which this country would write off as paid each year "25 per cent of the gross value of American products which the debtors nations buy from us." His Democratic conferees apparently are mighty reticent about giving support.

Nor has there been any chorus of assent in Republican councils for the conviction recently expressed by President Coolidge of Columbia University that any political party or candidate opposing a debt readjustment "merely declares in favor of prolonging the existent depression."

Senator Johnson said he believed those "in control of us" are getting ready to give "another moratorium on $270,000,000—$520,000,000 in all—to be followed ultimately by revision and cancellation of the loans."

Hilda herself assisted police. She described two men who lured her into an automobile as she was going to school and two houses in Philadelphia where she was held.

A handout of the girl followed two contacts between the priest and the alleged kidnappers. Father Pugliese said a man and

Police said they made no pledge of immunity. The priest declared he was "bound not to reveal some details of the matter."

Detective Captain John Creedon said his agents had had "an advance tip" This was reported to refer to a conversation about a kidnaping overheard by two detectives in a South Philadelphia restaurant Thursday night. The man was said not to hear all that was said but "too" note of the man and woman who were talking.

BUIE AND STERLING HEARD BY DELEGATES EAST TEXAS C. OF C.

WORK AND CONFIDENCE
PRESCRIPTION DR. BUIE
GIVES FOR ECONOMIC ILLS

LUFKIN, April 18.—(P)—The East Texas Chamber of Commerce, opening its sixth annual convention here today, got a prescription from its physician-president, Dr. N. D. Buie, for the current commercial maladies.

In work and confidence, said Dr. Buie in his address, lay the cure.

Governor Ross S. Sterling was another of the morning's main speakers. The governor said he had "got a great kick" out of his service in office, and added:

"I want to tell you people of East Texas that in my 14 months as chief executive that I have not done a thing I wouldn't do again."

"What we need," he said in conclusion, "is to have faith in ourselves, in our neighbors and in the nation and world."

As the convention got under way it appeared likely Gus Taylor or Tyler would be elected the new president and Jacksonville selected as the next convention city. Galveston, Texas, and Dallas were in the running, however.

"We allow fear to make cowards of us all," Doctor Buie said in his address.

"If I had to get a title for this address I would call it 'psychic phobia, irresistible fear,'" said Dr. Buie. "We don't buy clothing we really need because we are afraid and so it is with everything. We fear everything in general."

"Just how long this condition will continue depends largely upon how long we allow ourselves to be controlled by these phobias."

"We must work to win a terrible world party called the world war. We spent a lot of money. We are back home. In the language of Jesse Jones: 'We have had headache, but we cannot expect to have a headache we already have eaten. We must have a new cake.'"

This afternoon there were group meetings on taxation, agriculture, industrial development and public health.

Economy in public finance, and county consolidations were subjects before the taxation group.

PROSECUTOR TRIES
SHAKE CONFESSION
NAVAL LIEUTENANT

DECLARES INSANITY PLEA
"THE BUNK," SAYS MASSIE
SHIELDING KILLER

HONOLULU, April 18.—(P)—Under a prosecution attack on his "story of King" the weapon that killed Joseph Kahahawai, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie testified today he wandered about the home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue in a daze while the young native died and Mrs. Fortescue with an air.

After publicly stating his disbelief in Massie's story that he held the pistol which killed Kahahawai just after the young native had participated in an attack on the navy officers' wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie, Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley led the witness into further details of the tragedy.

Massie testified Kahahawai died on a chaise longue in the Fortescue home while the accused society matron watched and while the other two defendants in the "King" case, Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, tried to remove blood stains from the young native's cloth.

HONOLULU, April 18.—(P)—An attempt to discredit the testimony of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie that he held the pistol which killed Joseph Kahahawai after the latter had admitted attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie was begun at the luncheon trial today by Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley.

Having asserted Massie was not the killer of Kahahawai and that his projected insanity defense was "the bunk," Kelley questioned the young naval officer again regarding the dance which Mrs. Massie left just before she was seized.

Clarence Darrow, veteran leader of the defense, observed his 75th birthday today with an alert watch on the young Irish prosecutor, who previously had hinted another defendant, Albert O. Jones,

NORTHWEST TO HEAR
ROOSEVELT TONIGHT
SUBJECT UNKNOWN

NEW YORK GOVERNOR TO DELIVER SPEECH IN ST-
PAUL MONDAY NIGHT

ST. PAUL, April 18.—(P)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York tonight will make his first address in the Midwest since he became a formal candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

In an interview today he drew the line on discussion of prohibition. He said it was "too early in the morning." Of the Jefferson Day speech of former governor Alfred E. Smith, he said "I will note that in my speech tonight," and on politics in general, "there's too much of it around now."

After parading through downtown St. Paul preceded by a company of national guardsmen sent by Gov. Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Laborite, the governor began a series of conferences with members of his party from Iowa, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, and Montana.

When a newspaperman asked the governor if he was prepared to offer a program relating to agriculture, he replied, "I will do that after the convention."

"Then you expect to be nominated at Chicago in June very definitely," he was asked.

"I hope to but I wouldn't say yet that I expect to," the governor parried. "But I can say that I certainly expect the party to win in November."

ST. PAUL, April 18.—(P)—The agricultural northwest took a close look today at Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and wondered whether it would hear an echo of his recent radio speech and the apparent exception taken to it by former Governor Alfred E. Smith.

For tonight Gov. Roosevelt, giving one of the rare public addresses of his presidential campaign and the first since Smith decried him yesterday for a "demagogic attitude," will deliver a speech he traveled nearly 2,500 miles to make.

There was no word from him about his topic but as he stopped

Convicted Smuggling

SHANGHAI, April 18.—(P)—Paul Crawley, American promoter, was convicted today of smuggling opium into the United States aboard the U. S. naval transport Chaumont and sentenced to two years in the McNeil Island federal penitentiary.

Crawley known here as "the man who introduced ice cream into China," changed his plea to guilty following his conviction today to make possible a quick sentence.

SHOWDOWN IN SALARY SLASH MEASURE HAS BEEN POSTPONED

HOUSE ECONOMY COMMITTEE UNABLE TO AGREE ON RETRENCHMENT PLANS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—By different approaches, the President's economy program moved briskly forward today on both sides of the capital.

The house economy committee overrode its chairman, Representative Mayhew (D., Ala.), and agreed to incorporate the retrenchment measures in an omnibus bill. McDuffie wanted to separate them into three groups.

No vote was taken by it, however, to determine whether it would accept the President's thorough plan for government employees instead of a pay out favored by McDuffie.

The senate adopted a resolution to set up a joint commission previously recommended by the President to study reorganization of government departments.

The resolution introduced by Chairman Jones of the appropriations committee was approved without debate on a record vote. Under it the commission would report back to congress within 30 days. The resolution now goes to the house for consideration.

The commission would be composed of three members of the house, three senators and three members appointed by the President.

Meanwhile, Speaker Garner said the house should accept the cuts made by the senate in the appropriation bills and said he would recognize Representative Taylor (D., Colo.) to move acceptance of the senate amendments which trimmed $5,000,000 out of the interior department supply bill.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—The house economy committee was unable to agree today on a retrenchment program and a showdown on the question of cutting government salaries was postponed several days.

Speaker Garner and Representative Snell of New York, the republican leader, who met with the economy group behind closed doors, announced that the naval supply bill would be brought before the house tomorrow.

This will be considered instead of the legislative supply measure to which the retrenchment program is attached.

Both said the economy committee had made no progress on whether to report an omnibus retrenchment bill.

BELIEVED OFFICERS ON TRAIL ROBBER
DALLAS BANK GUARD

MAN ARRESTED IN HEMPSTEAD ALLEGED TO HAVE CONNECTION WITH CASE

DALLAS, April 18.—(P)—Detectives today were hot on the trail of a robber who was taken into custody by John N. McCommas, bank messenger, as he was transferring the money in his car from the federal reserve bank to the Mercantile Building Friday. Apparently the fugitive was considered imminent.

Identity of the robber was established after Houston officers captured a man at Hempstead Saturday who evaded a Knew consider-able about the holdup. This man was returned to Dallas where he denied having any connection with the actual robbery. Leonard Pack, captain of detectives, denied a rumor that the man had confessed.

A photograph of the suspected robber, obtained at Houston, was identified by McCommas as that of the man who leaped on the running board of his car, pistol in hand, as he was taking $25,000 to the street behind the federal reserve bank. The robber forced McCommas to drive to a side street, where he took the money and car and fled away. The man was found abandoned later and officers for a time lost the trail completely.

They picked it up again when it was learned that the man arrested at Hempstead had purchased an automobile with bills of the same denomination as those taken in the bank messenger hold up. The man had but $415 on his person.

HOUSTON, April 18.—(P)—Detective Captain, Roy Young and City Detective L. D. Hooker left Houston today for Marlin in search of a second man sought as a suspect in a $38,000 robbery in Dallas Friday.

The first suspect, arrested in Hempstead Saturday on information supplied by Houston police, was taken to Dallas yesterday by Detective Captain Leonard Pack and Detective Lieutenant Will Fritz of the Dallas police.

Police believed two men were implicated in the robbery.

HOPES TO ACTIVITY DR.
JOHN F. CONDON

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 18.—(P)—It is the 49th day since the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped and his parents are still waiting for some word that will lead to his restoration.

A mysterious telephone call to the Toledo Times stirred interest. A man who said his name was Patterson told the paper the baby was in Detroit and would be returned within a week. He said the kidnappers had fallen out and warned against paying more ransom.

Dr. John F. Condon—the "Jaffa" who paid $50,000 ransom to a man in a Bronx cantenary and was tricked—said yesterday:

"We are in contact with the kidnappers. The baby will be returned soon, I hope."

However, it was said by another source no actual communication had been carried on since the ransom payment, but Col. Lindbergh still pins his chief hope on Dr. Condon.

NEW KREUGER DEVELOPMENTS
EXPECTED TO SHOW AMERICA
SUFFERED FROM FORGERIES

STOCKHOLM, April 18.—(P)—New developments in the investigation into the affairs of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king who committed suicide in Paris last month, led today to preparation for a widespread international inquiry which will include the United States.

The plans called for a special "Kreuger" department of police made up of lawyers and six detectives. It was understood more arrests were imminent and that the police activities would extend to New York, Berlin, Paris, Amsterdam and Geneva.

The investigators were said to have established that the forged Italian bonds reported to have been turned up last week among the documents of the Kreuger & Toll Company, amounted to about $100,000,000 and were printed at Kreuger's direction by a private firm here about a year ago.

The head of the firm said only the forms of the bonds had been turned out and they bore no signatures or numbers. The firm had no reason to believe the forms were to be used for an illegitimate purpose, he said.

The investigators said 42 treasury bonds for 500,000 pounds each had been forged by Kreuger and that he alone was responsible for their presence in the private safe. The forged signature of E. Breill for the Italian monopolies board was clumsily done, they said.

The aura of romance that clung to the Swedish financial leader has been completely dispelled by the revelations since his suicide. One local newspaper called him "a cool defrauder and gambler."

The newspaper's Social Democrat editor, said the investigation showed Kreuger had given financial support to fascist movements in Germany and Spain.

I. C. COMMISSION URGES RAIL-WATER LINES USE ROADS

URGE FEDERAL REGULATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES IN TRANSPORTATION

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today recommended federal regulation of motor vehicles engaged in interstate commerce and that railroads and water lines be encouraged to use the public highways.

The commission's decision, in the form of recommendations which are expected to be transmitted to congress, makes the following findings:

"That transportation by motor vehicles, buses and trucks, over the public highway is, within certain distances, and in certain respects a superior service and that the rail and water lines should be encouraged in the use of this instrumentality of commerce wherever such use will promote more efficient operation or improve the public service."

"That there is substantial competition between rail and water carriers on the one hand and motor carriers on the other for the transportation of both passengers and freight and that this competition is increasing."

"That such competition is conducted under conditions of inequality, particularly in regard to regulation."

Unrestrained Competition.
"That a contributing cause, aside from the general business conditions, of the present unsatisfactory financial condition of the railroads is the existence of unrestrained competition by rival transportation agencies."

"That there is today and probably would be under normal conditions an excess of carrying capacity of existing transportation facilities."

"That unrestrained competition is an impossible solution of the present transportation problem and is incompatible with the aims of co-ordination under regulation."

"That federal legislation relating to the regulation of motor vehicles operating upon the public highways are engaged in interstate commerce."

Dallas Man Is Victim Mystery
Murder Sunday

DALLAS, April 18.—(P)—A motive had not been established today for the mysterious killing of King Watson, 40, at a resort near Bachman's lake last night.

Mrs. Harry Goodman, wife of the resort operator, said two men known as "Red" and "Sam" drove up to the place in an automobile and got out. She said Red carried a shotgun and Sam a pistol.

Without a word, the man with the shotgun fired at Watson who was standing near the cash register she said. Watson died before an ambulance arrived. Watson was employed at the resort.

The man with the pistol walked into the building to King Watson's room. He was alone in the room and was in one of the bedrooms, said he heard the shot and Watson's scream. He saw the man approaching with the pistol and ran out of the room. He said he saw the man with the pistol in the clump of trees until he saw two men drive away in their car.

Neither Goodman nor his wife could offer any explanation for the shooting.

PRESENCE SOVIET TROOPS ON BORDER DRAWS JAP COMMENT

MILITARY PREPARATIONS RUSSIA INDICATE CLASH WITH JAPAN EXPECTED

TOKYO, April 18.—(P)—Military preparations of Soviet Russia on the North Manchurian border are taken by Japanese military experts as a clear indication that Russia expects a clash with Japan, a spokesman for the foreign office said today.

Our military experts estimate that the Soviet forces on the Manchurian frontier between Vladivostok and Manchuria now number nine divisions, a total of 70,000 men, with the strongest concentrations in the Pogranichnaya and Manchuria districts, where there are two divisions each," the spokesman said.

The experts assert the disposition clearly indicate the Russians are expecting a clash with Japan. Although they are of a defensive nature, they are capable also of assuming the offensive.

Reports from Japanese consulate at Harbin, Manchuria, said it was indicated the wreck of a Japanese troop train there last week, causing the death of 31 men, was the work of the Russian communists, although positive proof was lacking.

The foreign office spokesman said Japan was taking a much less alarming view of the situation than the Soviet government apparently did. "We don't believe a clash is imminent," he said, "and unless Soviet Russia sends troops into Manchuria, there is no reason to be alarmed. We certainly have no intention of attacking Russia and we do not believe Russia would be so rash as to challenge Japan."

The Japanese forces in North Manchuria total less than two divisions and the entire strength in Manchuria and Korea is less than five divisions, "plus auxiliaries," he said.

Charges Against Japanese.
MOSCOW, April 18.—(P)—The government organ Izvestia today reiterated charges that Japanese militarists in Manchuria inspired Russian "White Guards" to anti-Soviet violence.

"The Japanese militarists," the newspaper said, "are seeking to enlarge the front of the military conflict in Manchuria."

The organ added that a raid by White Guards on the offices of M. Kamenkov, Soviet manager of the Chinese Eastern Railway at Harbin, recently was instigated by the Japanese who "bribed the White Guard clique."

The newspaper added that the Japanese failed in their attempt to have the Chinese authorities search the Soviet consulate at Harbin, and instigated the White Guard raid on the railway offices as the result of this failure.

"These Japanese elements can not evade responsibility for the latest White Guard attack," Izvestia said.

Abilene Man Dead In Fort Worth Held To Have Suicided

FORT WORTH, April 18.—(P)—A verdict of suicide was returned today at the inquest of D. M. Matthews, 60, Abilene, who died in a hospital after a passerby reported a man was ill.

Justice Prichard said the man had taken poison. His body will be taken to Caddo where relatives were located.

Emergency policemen answered the call of the passerby. They found Matthews who told them he was "as good as I ever was" but that "no one would believe me and I couldn't get a job."

In his pocket was found a note reading, "the package you sent me is at the Trinity hotel; no charges against it. But I don't need it."

Rich Strike of Gold In Mexico Is Announced

NOGALES, Ariz., April 18.—(P)—The Herald said today a rich gold strike has been made in the Altas district of Sonora, Mexico, a vast terrain stretching southward from Nogales to the Gulf of California.

Gold, placer mined, is pouring into the city at the rate of $10,000 weekly and yellow and red nuggets are being sold here for $15 and $18 an ounce.

Several thousand placer miners already are pan-washing and merchants are trading merchandise for gold dust.

Ramon Elias, prominent Nogales resident, has filed claims on large tracts and gold washing machinery will be taken from here to begin operations on a large scale.

Honor Trial

was the man who fired the shot that killed Kahahawai.

Kelley announced that although he had alienists coming from the mainland to combat the defense contention, Massie was insane at the time of the killing Jan. 8, he did not plan asking any delay in the trial.

Massie was pale but composed. Kelley asked if he had carried any liquor to the dance.

"Do I have to answer that?" Massie queried.

"I am asking the question," Kelley said.

The naval officer then said he brought a pint of liquor to the party. Under further questioning he said he danced twice with Mrs. Massie and gave the remnant of the liquor to the orchestra.

HONOLULU, April 18.—(P)—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie's courtroom statement that he killed Joseph Kahahawai was attacked by the prosecution today with an assertion that the lieutenant was "shielding" one of the three persons on trial with him for second degree murder.

An insanity defense being laid through Massie's testimony under the guidance of Clarence Darrow also drew fire. The plea was branded by Prosecutor John C. Kelley as "the bunk."

"Why Massie did not even kill Kahahawai," Kelley declared in announcing the course he would pursue today when he resumed the cross examination.

The ruddy-faced prosecutor did not say directly which of the four defendants he believed shot the young native after questioning him about an assault on the lieutenant's wife, Kelley indicated, however, he thought Albert O. Jones was responsible.

"If Massie killed Kahahawai," he asked, "why did he use Jones' gun instead of his own?" he admits that he brought his own gun to the Forties house (where Kahahawai was killed) that morning.

"You got used to a gun like a wrist watch or other personal equipment. So far as Massie knew, Jones' gun was not loaded. Yet he says he used Jones' gun, although he had his own with him."

Massie, in his testimony Saturday, admitted indirectly that he killed the Hawaiian. He said Jones' pistol was in his hand when the mind went blank after Kahahawai, saying, "Yes, we done it," admitted he and four others attacked Mrs. Massie. Kelley disclosed that Massie used both local and mainland alienist witnesses to attack the insanity plea.

Besides attacking the insanity plea and the lieutenant's assumption of responsibility, Kelley also assailed the contention that the slaying was not premeditated.

Defendants with Massie are his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and Jones and E. J. Lord, navy enlisted men. The second degree murder with which they are charged carries a minimum penalty of 20 years and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Officers Searching For Woman's Slayer In Houston District

HOUSTON, April 18.—(P)—Officers today had made little progress in their search for a 60-year-old tenant farmer who shot a woman to death in an argument over strawberries and wounded her husband. He then bade neighbors farewell after trying vainly to borrow more ammunition.

Mrs. Beulah McGiboney, 47, was killed. R. McGiboney, 55, peppered with birdshot, had a good chance to recover. The man sought for the killing was raising strawberries on the McGiboney farm, southeast of Houston on halves.

Authorities at first believed the slayer had committed suicide because of his farewell to neighbors. This meant a goody-farewell. A long search, however, failed to reveal the body.

an advantage to the market," the witness said, "because it is an integral part of speculation, the other part being marginal purchasing. Speculation together with investments make up the market speculation or investment leaves of the world."

"To take away one part or the remainder like the man with but one leg. He has lost his equilibrium."

"Why is short selling an aid to the market when the market is depressed?"

"Don't say short selling will prevent the market going down, but the market up without speculation and investment the market cannot exist. Therefore you can't take away any part of it."

Whitney added that short selling provides the market with "its only compulsory buyer." The short seller, he said, must eventually buy to cover his transaction.

Gray asked if it were not true that short selling did not take place "until there is an indication that the market is going down?"

Whitney said "not necessarily." Short sellers buy back stocks at lower prices.

Whitney said he did not know. He insisted under persistent questioning by Gray that he knew of no exchange members who believed it wise to do away with the short selling.

Films of Market Activity Are Shown

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Five reels of film, a photographic record of stock transactions in the downhill market of two weeks ago, engaged the senate banking committee today upon resuming questioning of Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange.

The tin boxes and their contents, looking outwardly just like an ordinary moving picture, presented the answer to the committee's subpoena demanding that Whitney produce a list of the big short accounts, the brokers handling them and the customers for whom the sales were made.

Upon this record administration senators on the committee seized for ammunition to support the charge that bear raids had much to do with depressing the value of securities to record lows. Whitney, first called to the stand a week ago when the data were not available, has denied steadfastly that the shorts were mainly responsible or that bear raids had occurred.

The data was received by the committee Saturday, but because of the short time so far available for its study the prospect was that little in the way of definite conclusions would be obtained for some time.

While the administration senators were striving to make their bear raid case—it was the principal reason they advanced for pushing the exchange investigation—the Democratic and Republican independent members of the committee were sitting back, ready to spring a demand for a thorough, wide-open examination of the security sales structure and its speculative or smugling features.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS OPPOSED TO MOTOR VEHICLE EXCISE TAX

SPOKESMAN FOR INDUSTRY
SAYS IT WOULD STRIKE
DIRECTLY AT PAYROLL

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Talk of a general sales tax was revived before the senate finance committee today by opponents of the proposed levy on automobiles.

Committee members asked that comparative figures be supplied to show the estimated income from tax on automobiles, trucks and accessories now in the bill and from a 2 1/2 and a 1 1/2 per cent general sales tax.

A little earlier, George M. Graham, head of the Rockne Motors Corporation, had led a group of opponents of the automobile sales tax in a concerted drive against that levy. They said they favored a general sales tax, excepting food and clothing, to one which they contended discriminated against their industry.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—The automotive industry, through its spokesman, George M. Graham, told the senate finance committee today the proposed motor vehicle excise tax would be "a direct blow at the nation's wages."

"Our chief concern here today is the American payroll," said Graham, president of the Rockne Motors corporation.

"Balancing the budget is, of course, imperative, but there can hardly be any dissent to the principle that this must not be done at the cost of taking a job from the man who has one of keeping idle the man who seeks employment."

As he opened his appeal for elimination of the taxes of 3 per cent on pleasure cars, 20 per cent on trucks and 1 per cent on tires, parts and accessories, which were voted by the house, Graham introduced leading figures in the automobile industry who were slated to appear before the committee.

Among them were Edsel Ford, Walter P. Chrysler and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors.

With emphasis, Graham told the committee the automotive industry is "sicker than it has ever been since its start."

"Only the courage and optimism of our manufacturers," he asserted, "has kept the business going."

even greater economies in operation of the system next year. He said there were 5,500 prisoners in state penitentiaries and 10,000 at present. Escapes were few in number.

The morning session was called to order by Ernest Kurth, one of the East Texas chamber's vice-presidents. He introduced A. Coston, superintendent of the Lufkin schools, who delivered the address of welcome. Myron Blacklock of Marshall responded.

R. L. Thornton, Dallas banker, explained the working of the reconstruction finance corporation. He secured "baker" tape values and said "when we get down to real values we will be getting back to ourselves."

LUFKIN, April 18.—(P)—Suggested tax reforms were on the program for discussion today as business of the annual East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention began. Thousands of East Texans were here and this little city was ready to entertain them royally.

Gus Taylor of Tyler was mentioned as a candidate for president to succeed Dr. N. D. Buie of Marlin. Texarkana, Jacksonville and Galveston were early bidders for the next convention.

A tea, a dinner and an address last night by Clinton S. Quin of Houston, Episcopal Bishop, opened the program.

"The root of the present mess," Bishop Quin said, "lies in lack of faith in one another. It is impossible to build citizenship without faith."

"Religion's place in community building is perfecting that state of mind that will build the idea that the profit motive is not the primary motive. Although man is entitled to a fair profit, still some place must be made for sharing."

in Chicago yesterday en route here, it was apparent to interviewers attached as much interest to the local address as did political observers.

The remarks Smith apparently aimed at Gov. Roosevelt were occasioned by a radio address of New York chief executive made about ten days ago. Subsequently, Gov. Roosevelt promised to give a detailed explanation of some of the points he had raised: Restoration of the farmer's buying power, relief to small banks and home owners and a revised tariff policy.

Early Preparation Platform Is Sought

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Democratic sentiment is being sounded out on the idea of having preparation of the party platform started a few days before the opening of the National convention at Chicago, June 27.

Originating with Former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, the thought was put to members of the party national committee yesterday in a letter by J. M. Shouse executive committee chairman. It out that the committee could constitute itself only provisionally but that its membership would be of the choices of the state delegations, would be known beforehand though subject to routine confirmation by the convention.

The work done in advance would, of course, be "only tentative and advisory."

Announcement of the letter by party headquarters said: "The idea is to save the time and avoid the confusion always present in the hasty preparation of the declaration of the party's principles incident to doing the work after the convention is assembled."

Murray to Start Again

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 18.—(P)—Governor W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, democratic presidential candidate, will take his speaking campaign to Ohio this week. April unless something unforeseen happens to change his plans.

"Of course," said George A. Henshaw, Murray's campaign manager, "We can't tell what may happen to change our plans. The present schedule is for Governor Murray to go to Ohio the last week in April."

Henshaw's announcement came after Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland, manager of the proposed Ohio tour, said arrangements had been cancelled. The campaign, Henshaw said, "has been deferred, but not cancelled."

Political observers believed Murray would remain in Oklahoma after the Governor suddenly terminated his Oregon campaign with his executive policies by Lieutenant Governor Robert Burns.

Favors State Control

BOSTON, April 18.—(P)—William H. Mitchell's secretary of the Liberal Civic League, today made public a telegram which he said had been received from Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for the democratic presidential nomination. It was in answer to a request by the league for Roosevelt's stand on prohibition.

The telegram Mitchell said, read as follows:

"Please consider I still maintain 100 per cent my earlier expression of opinion favoring the return of control of intoxicants to the federal states. That is definite. I have on many occasions agreed with your statement that the time has come for definite action."

trenchment bill as favored by President Hoover.

It was considered certain that any proposal to cut government costs could not be brought before the house by the economy committee until probably next week.

It will require the rest of this week to dispose of the navy supply bill, over which there are many controversies.

Representative Ayres (D., Kan.), chairman of the naval appropriations sub-committee, declared he would not stand for any interruption of the consideration of the naval bill.

Representative Snell urged the committee to bring out an omnibus bill including only those items on which it was in unanimous agreement in order, he said, to obtain passage of at least some curtailment legislation.

The committee still was unsuccessful in reaching an agreement on the McDuffie salary cutting or the Hoover day week-furloughing unemployment plans.

Hoover's Economy Plans Announced

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Whether President Hoover's wishes for a single big economy bill will prevail was up to the house economy committee to decide today.

With the executive's entire program in hand and a voluminous explanation of its details presented by the budget director, the committee was asked by Chairman McDuffie (D., Ark.), to choose between presenting a reduction plan to the house tomorrow as a rider to the appropriation for congressional funds, or let all savings lie over to the end of this week or the beginning of next.

Prospects favored the president's idea on the basis of committee sentiment so far displayed, but the entire Hoover economy program was too bulky and contained too many points of difference with ideas of house Democrats to permit the committee to draft a measure for the whole thing by tomorrow, as originally planned.

Besides differences over pay cuts—the president wants vacations with pay eliminated, the five-day week installed for day-rate workers and a month's furlough without pay given virtually all the high salaried employees, while McDuffie is holding out for a 11 per cent pay cut—Mr. Hoover is seeking authority to reorganize the departments and bureaus by executive order, subject to a 60-day veto period by congress.

A second important economy decision will face the house shortly. That will be whether to accept the flat 10 per cent cut the senate made in the interior department appropriation bill after the house had completed a cutting program of its own.

SPEAKER GARNER FAVORS APPROVAL SENATE ECONOMY

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Speaker Garner today told newspapermen that he would favor house approval of all the cuts made by the senate on government supply bills.

The Texan's statement to newspapermen came a short while after the house economy committee had failed to agree on a retrenchment program. That postponed a showdown for several days on cutting salaries of government workers.

Garner said he would recognize Representative Taylor (D., Colo.), to move suspension of the house rules later in the day for the house to accept the 180 senate amendments to the interior department supply bill, reducing it from $50,000,000 to $45,000,000.

The naval supply bill would be considered tomorrow by the house. Garner said the general sentiment of the economy committee favored reporting an omnibus bill calling for retrenchments in government expenditures to aggregate about $200,000,000.

He said he favored including in the measure the Byrns bill to consolidate the war and navy departments. It has been estimated the savings from this would be from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

DALLAS COUNTY GRAND JURY ACTS IN RAID SLAYING

TWO FEDERAL PROHIBITION
AGENTS INDICTED RESULT
M'GLOTHLIN KILLING

DALLAS, April 16.—(P)—Two federal prohibition agents were indicted today by the county grand jury on charges of murder and assault with intent to murder in connection with the killing of Marion McGlothlin and the wounding of his wife in a shooting at the McGlothlin store for a rendezvous with a bootlegger they were trying to trap. The agents are L. C. Smith and N. D. Heston.

The shooting occurred the night of April 8 at the McGlothlin store near Irving. Investigators learned the agents had been trying to buy some liquor from Lester Cox, an alleged bootlegger. Cox told them he had some but thought he could get some. He arranged to meet the agents at the McGlothlin store.

He appeared at the rendezvous, accompanied by his wife, and informed the agents he had been unable to obtain any liquor. The agents then tried to arrest him on the basis of a buy they alleged he had made some time before. A scuffle resulted and the McGlothlins, who knew nothing about the liquor deal, armed themselves, thinking the agents were robbers. Investigators were told that the McGlothlins never had been connected in any way with the liquor traffic.

Mrs. McGlothlin grabbed a pistol but before she could use it, one of the agents shot it from her hand, wounding her. McGlothlin seized a shotgun from behind the counter and, as he raised it, the other agent allegedly shot and killed him. The shotgun exploded, the charge going wild into the ceiling. In the disturbance, Cox managed to escape. Officers have not been able to locate him. His wife testified before the grand jury as did Mrs. McGlothlin.

The grand jury devoted most of this week to investigation of the case, calling in all persons who were believed to know anything about the shooting or events leading up to it. Among the witnesses called were five suspected bootleggers and the McGlothlins. The agents were called to testify concerning the condition and conduct of the agents.

Government authorities were planning today to post new bonds for the indicted agents. Smith and Heston did not testify before the grand jury, although they had the right to do so. They continued their duties with the prohibition department after Director Amos W. Woodcock announced he would not suspend them until unless they acted in self-defense.

ST TEXAS WELL ALLOWABLE CUT TO 67 BARRELS DAILY

HOUSTON, April 16.—(P)—A railroad commission order reducing the per well allowable in the East Texas oil field from 71 to 67 barrels daily became effective this morning. The order was issued here yesterday as the commission paused in its hearing on the regulation of production in the Gulf Coast field.

East Texas was not the only field cut in its production. The Penn pool in Ector county was reduced from 6,300 to 4,070 barrels daily, while the Reagan county pool was cut from 30,000 to 20,000 and the Howard-Glasscock pool from 28,000 to 24,000. All the reductions were effective today. Announcement was made that the Hobbs, N. M., pool had been cut from 40,000 to 30,000 barrels daily, effective today.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, announced that a hearing would be held at Austin April 28 to determine future regulations for the East Texas field. The 67-barrel per well order will expire May 1.

East Texas production was cut to keep the field within the 325,000 barrel daily limit. The Houston-Sterling had expressed the opinion that a reduction of 62 1/2 barrels would be necessary to keep the giant area from overrunning its limits.

V. T. Sanders, city manager, $100.

Tyler Caddy Is Shot In Alleged Robbery Attempt

TYLER, April 16.—(P)—"Titanic" Thompson, internationally known gambler, was questioned here today in connection with the fatal shooting of Jimmy Frederick, sixteen-year-old caddy.

"Titanic" identified as A. C. Thomas of Kansas City, Mo., alleged that the caddy ordered him to raise his hands and that he then fired in self defense. An unfired pistol and a black mask were found on the boy.

Young Frederick's sisters said the boy had read too many lurid magazines and was too many detective plot movies.

His name regarded as synonymous with huge wagers on any game of chance or circumstance. "Titanic" generally was reputed always to travel financially "well-healed" ready to get anything on anything at any time.

Of late he had been seen much in Texas. Many tall tales have been narrated about his "takings" on various Texas golf courses, and of his ability with the woods, irons and the rubber ball.

Delia, some of Texas' outstanding amateur golfers, capable of shooting as low as 65 over regular courses, have paid tribute to "Titanic's" wizardry with the golfing implements, although the Thompson gambling reputation has been built largely upon his cold-bloodedness, ability and shrewdness in other more widely recognized games of chance.

Young Frederick was shot last night and died today. Thompson was not held by the police who announced their investigation had been concluded after they asked the gambler a few questions.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC ASSUMED CONTROL
COTTON BELT ROUTE

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(P)—The Cotton Belt Railroad, which runs south from St. Louis through the black lands of Arkansas and into Texas, now is under control of the Southern Pacific.

The merger of the two roads was consummated yesterday. It increased the Southern Pacific's assets to approximately $250,000,000 and gave that system a line in and out of the inland ports of St. Louis and Memphis as well as a through carrier in the lower Mississippi valley's cotton lands.

Southern Pacific originally purchased 87,000 shares of Cotton Belt (St. Louis Western) preferred and 42,000 shares of common. It obtained an option on 50,330 additional shares of preferred and 24,700 of common, thereby acquiring control of 58 per cent of the stock.

It announced yesterday it had filed with the interstate commerce commission its final acceptance of the commission's order in the purchase of capital stock and control of the Cotton Belt and control of the Cotton Belt.

The merger added 1,800 miles of lines to the S. P.'s system. The Southern Pacific agreed to give the Cotton Belt a guaranty of an $18,000,000 loan which the Cotton Belt has asked from the reconstruction finance corporation.

BOLD DAYLIGHT ROBBERY STAGED IN DALLAS FRIDAY

LONE BANDIT GETS $38,000
IN CURRENCY AND MAKES ESCAPE

DALLAS, April 15.—(P)—A consignment of $38,000 in currency was stolen from John N. McCommas, guard for the Mercantile Bank and Trust Company of Texas, by a robber who waylaid him today as he was transferring the money in his car from the Federal Reserve bank a few blocks away.

The robber leaped on McCommas' car, thrust a pistol in his face, and said, "Turn to the left at the next corner. I'll blow your brains out." McCommas was forced to drive three blocks through the business district and then to turn off on a side street, where the robber kicked him out of the car and took the wheel himself.

A negro porter, Sam Foxall, was riding with McCommas. The robber sped several blocks down the side street and then abandoned McCommas' car. Whether an accomplice picked him up there and carried him and the money away in another car had not been determined.

The theft was broadcast over the police radio, but immediately officers placed guards over all roads leading from Dallas. Carefully Planned.

The holdup evidently had been carefully planned, as the robber displayed intimate acquaintance with the system of transferring money between the banks. The robber had disguised himself by donning a dark coat and carrying his complexion heavily with face powder.

McCommas said he was a young man, about 30 years old. He was garbed in a dark suit and was comparatively well dressed. Police believed he might have been a Dallas man, or one who had been in the city long enough to know the streets.

In directing the course he wanted McCommas to take from the point he boarded the car he designated streets by their names and seemed familiar with the district. Routine Cash Transfer.

McCommas was making a routine money transfer, such as he was assigned to do daily. Accompanied by the negro porter, he drove to the reserve bank, parked in the special area in the rear and went in for the money. He brought the money back to the car where the negro was waiting. He had scarcely turned into the street when he was accosted.

McCommas and the porter ordered the car he waved his pistol at them and shouted, "Now, run up that alley or I'll fill you both full of lead."

The two bank employees took to their heels as directed and the robber climbed into the car, driving it away at full speed. McCommas and the negro hurried back to the bank and reported the holdup. McCommas said the robber took his pistol.

Insurance Covers Loss. R. L. Thornton, president of the Mercantile Bank, issued a statement saying the loss was covered fully by insurance.

The robbery involved the largest sum of money taken in a Dallas holdup in many years. The last robbery to compare in any way with it was Oct. 20, 1930, when six men in a black sedan overpowered a Union Terminal cashier and a bank messenger and took $18,000. McCommas' car was taken to the police headquarters to be examined for fingerprints and any other clues that might have been left by the robber.

Police gained but a meagre description of the robber from McCommas and the negro porter, who said the heavy film of powder on his face made it almost impossible to distinguish unusual features. Believed Suit Discarded.

They were inclined to believe the checked suit was another piece of evidence to be discarded for one of more conservative markings as soon as the robber made his getaway. The suit was of "loud" gray-checked cloth.

Police expressed belief the robber hurried to a pre-arranged hideout somewhere in Dallas, possibly within a few blocks of where he abandoned the McCommas car. Police headquarters shortly before noon were notified by a taxi company that one of its cabs was called to a place on St. Louis street, near the scene of the robbery, and a man who entered it ordered the driver to proceed south. Police chartered a car and were attempting to locate the taxi from the air.

$50,000 in Bonds Stolen. LIGONIER, Pa., April 15.—(P)—While 15 directors and officers of the Ligonier National Bank met 20 feet away, a package of bonds valued at $50,000 was stolen from the vault of the institution.

G. C. Frank, president of the bank, said today the theft was perpetrated Tuesday night and was discovered by a clerk the following morning. Security was maintained in the matter while a state bank examiner investigated.

The door of the bank had been left open, Frank disclosed, so directors and officers could enter for the meeting. The vault door was not locked to permit directors to study books and other records.

RESUBMISSION DRY ISSUE TO POPULAR VOTE IDEA GROWING

NUMEROUS LEADERS BOTH PARTIES COME TO SUP-PORT OF PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(P)—Activity toward resubmission of the Eighteenth amendment, showing itself today, an increasing factor in the political preparations for the June conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties.

At the capitol, where hearings are in progress looking to an early vote by the senate on resubmission, the two Wyoming senators joined in announcing the prohibition before the people. Both Kendrick, the Democrat, and Carey, Republican, have dry records behind them.

In Richmond, Va., Bishop James Cannon, Jr., one of the most active dry leaders, announced himself in substantial agreement with the plan advanced by the plan advanced by former Gov. Harry F. Byrd at this week's Jefferson Day Democratic rally in Washington to make possible a popular vote on prohibition.

Hearings of this Byrd said he believed that having extreme dry as well as extreme wet approving his plan, it would be possible to secure adoption quickly of the amendment brought to the floor by the New York Times quoted John R. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, as a constitutional amendment.

The Democratic committee of New York state, by adopting a resolution for repeal of the sixteenth amendment, brought to the list of state organizations in the party which have recorded themselves for repeal or resubmission in their preparations for the Democratic convention.

Predicts G. O. P. Stand. A prediction that the Republican national convention would go on record for repeal was made in Chicago in an interview given by Nicholas Murray Butler, who said he would force a roll call on a resolution to that effect and that there would be no "pusyfooting."

In Bishop Cannon's approval of the Byrd plan, which would be a number of highly important qualifications. He opposed vigorously in either party platform of a plank recommending it. He objected to singling out the eighteenth amendment for its application and favored making the direct vote by the people in each state the place of the present provision for constitutional conventions as an alternative to ratification by the legislatures.

Bishop Cannon at the same time said responsibility will rest on President Hoover for whatever prohibition action is taken by the Republican convention.

Democratic state conventions or committees which have expressed themselves for a change or a new vote on prohibition are those of New York, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota and Washington.

For the Republicans only Missouri acted for a change, calling on congress to obtain a national

The deceased is survived by a son, Herbert Scales.

Mr. Scales was a pioneer oil mill man in Corsicana, having organized the mill now known as the Southland Cotton Oil Mill, and was prominent in business and social circles while residing here. He moved to Dallas where he made his home until his death in Paris.

Hamilton-Beeman Memorial Body to Meet on Thursday

The Hamilton-Beeman Memorial Association will have a meeting next Thursday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Joe Magness, on the Boulevard.

All members are urged to be present as work is necessary to be done which cannot be done by a few only.

Those who have not paid dues, one dollar, are reminded that as the sum is small—unless all are careful to attend to it—the work cannot be done.

Fiddlers Must Make Application to Enter East Texas Contest

ATHENS, April 28.—All fiddlers who desire to play in the East Texas Fiddlers contest in Athens, April 28th, must make application to play. On account of the wide publicity being given the big event through the state and county newspapers, the committee in charge has found it necessary to ask all who plan to enter to write saying so.

A committee will consider all applications and as many fiddlers as possible will be accepted. The contest will be played in groups or string bands and the prizes will be awarded to the fiddler of the band. All applications should be addressed immediately to C. H. Stanton, Athens, Texas.

Fairfield Concerns Swapped Locations

FAIRFIELD, April 16.—(Spl.)—Ivy's Grocery and Market and the Mecca cafe have swapped locations in the Hill building just east of the bank. This gives Mr. Ivy room to enlarge his grocery and market and also gives the cafe suitable quarters.

Walker Has Plan. NEW YORK, April 16.—(P)—Mayor James J. Walker hopes for significant beer parades all over the nation May 14 in an attempt to influence congress to legalize beer and put a tax on it.

The mayor, a wet, announced last night he was seeking co-operation of mayors of all large cities. The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion.

He made the proposal so "50,000,000 people may simultaneously impress on the senate and house of representatives not only the importance but the magnitude of the demand for beer for taxation."

By legalizing beer and taxing it, the mayor said, congress would make unnecessary the unpopular tax bills now before congress and would improve economic conditions.

Don't let them count you out!

"I am simply overjoyed that I have back my beautiful clear skin... now I work and mingle with my friends with confidence and enthusiasm."

"People admire me and ask how I did it. I tell them about S.S.S. and how it gave me the glow of health. It is a wonderful aid to the system. It improves the appetite... clears the skin... and thru its regeneration of the red-blood-cells and hemoglobin I feel like myself again."

Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment.

REQUISITION FOR FARM BOARD FLOUR REPORTED HONORED

Rev. H. J. Ellis, chairman for the Navarro county chapter to the American Red Cross, has received a letter from the Midwestern branch headquarters in St. Louis stating that the requisition from Navarro county for flour from wheat appropriated by Congress from the Federal Farm Board holdings had been received and approved, and that shipment would be made as soon as possible.

Under the supervision of Mrs. H. B. Mitchell, executive secretary of the Navarro county Red Cross chapter, a complete survey was made of the needs for this county and the entire amount necessary for maintaining the needs for ninety days was estimated and forwarded to headquarters. A total of 125,000 pounds has been approved for this county. It was stated in the letter to the county chairman.

The local chairman and secretary state that just as soon as the flour is received, community chairman will be notified and necessary announcement will also be carried in these columns. Receipt of the first shipment is expected at an early date.

THE UNDYING HOPE

The chief hope of humanity through all the ages and in every diversity of its experience and one supported by earnest faith and devotion is that what we call death is not the end of life but no more than the final triumph of the spirit over the imprisoned flesh. Even when doubt and cynicism deny another life, men seek no less for immortality. The spirit of man finds this life far too short — too short for full realization of its ideals and ambitions, too short for the achievement of the complete measure of happiness. It becomes therefore, the habit of the race to look to the future for the final fruits of life, and to the individual this habit takes form as the hope of immortality.

This instinctive trust in the hidden future is recalled whenever a brave and rich life comes to the sudden end of all mortality. It is hard and, indeed, unnatural for us to think that human strength and wisdom, won by long labor and experience, are lost forever from the universal treasury of mankind. The brief life of this world is no more than enough to build the figure of a man, to perfect his powers, temper his strength and bring him the last great gift of wisdom.
To believe that these are wasted by death is to surrender reasonable faith and assurance, for our faith in immortality is the main-spring of the best of our service to the human cause.

THE DISHONOR ROLL.

America still holds the unenviable position at the top of the list in the homicide records of the world.
Dr. Frederick Hoffman, statistician, who has compiled figures annually for some years, shows that the homicide rate in 164 American cities during 1931 was 10.9 for every 100,000 population. For the same period, Canada's rate was 1.6.
The 53 leading cities of the world averaged 3.5. London had 0.8 and Liverpool 0.5.
In other words, for every 109 homicides in the United States, London had eight, the Canadian cities 16 and the cities of the world, averaged, had 35.

Philadelphia, with a total of 151 for the year, was sixth in the list of 10 American cities with 100 or more homicides during the year.
By percentages, according to population, it was far down the list, as were both Chicago and New York, which had totals of 489 and 586 respectively, according to Dr. Hoffman's figures.

Dr. Hoffman lays this high rate of homicide to public apathy and police incompetence, saying, "Few murderers are caught and fewer are convicted." Police Commissioner Mulrooney's report for New York in 1931, listing 489 homicides and only 30 convictions for first degree murder, tends to bear this statement out. Another point that Dr. Hoffman makes is that American murder trials are long drawn out and the interval between the crime and the punishment, if any, is so long that their relation is generally overlooked.

All these points go right back to the first accusation — public apathy. So long as we condone corruption of the courts and the police we shall continue at the head of this annual roll-call of dishonor.

The work of stabilizing industry and business would make more headway if others would act first.

The fellow who said "The horse is man's best friend," never bet on a horse race.

JUST FOLKS

TALKING IT OVER

Were they so much of comfort after all
That we should even shed one silly tear
For some lost pleasure and the glittering ball
And all the gaudy glamour of the year?
We lived almost as strangers to ourselves
And never knew what books were on our shelves.

The loss has come. What is it we have lost?
For one thing weariness with all its pains;
Some lavish splendor, scarcely worth its cost,
And won the right to be ourselves again.
Tonight we're playing checkers.
You and I Have had enjoyment money didn't buy!

I'm sure the neighbors oftener stop to call.
The youngsters gather here to dance and sing.
What if these rooms we occupy seem small?
More happiness the larger didn't bring.
We've lost the right in luxury to room,
And found a truer pleasure here at home.

MANCHURIA IN FOR TROUBLE.

It is one thing to set up a puppet government without saying by your leave to the people to be governed. It is something else to make those people loyal subjects.
That is one of the lessons Japan is learning in Manchuria.

As revolts break out in widely separated parts of the country, as thousands of Chinese soldiers are reported gathering, or on the march, with definite objectives and as no attempt is made to organize a Manchurian army to protect the infant state it becomes clearer and clearer that Henry Pu-Yi and his government are supported solely by the Japanese military, and that the overwhelming Chinese population has very little interest, if any, in the new Manchurian regime.
Whatever patriotism exists is Chinese patriotism, exemplified by the fact that although the Chinese bands — amounting in some instances to sizeable armies — may be shot up and scattered, they are able to gather again a few days or weeks later and renew the struggle.

Some apprehension has been expressed over the prospects of war between Japan and Russia. The Soviet government is said to be fortifying the Siberian frontier. It seems more natural to believe that the local soviet authorities have come to the conclusion that Manchuria is in for a long period of warfare, during which Chinese soldiers will be tempted to seek security on the Russian side of the border, and Japanese pursuers may be ordered to follow them there. Naturally the Russians don't want the Chinese bands, with no visible means of support, running over their crops and through their towns. They don't want to be bothered by internecine war and supporting them.
Nor do they want their countryside made into a Sino-Japanese battlefield. It is much less troublesome to entrench, and keep out all would-be invaders.

But the Russian activities show that they know what conditions are south and west of the Siberian border, and that they have no idea that the government of Henry Pu-Yi is going to be able to impose peace within the far-too-widespread territory which it has undertaken to control — always by means of the Japanese army. That this reading is correct is demonstrated by the fact that the provincial governors in the north and east of Manchuria seem quite unable to hold their own against the Chinese pa-triotists, who have beaten their forces and have approached within a few miles of towns occupied by Japanese troops.

If telegraphic protests

DEFICIT RISES DAILY.

The daily revenue of the Federal Government during the present fiscal year has averaged $5,825,000, as compared with the daily average of $8,894,000 in the previous fiscal year; while daily expenditures have averaged $12,680,000 as compared with $11,082,000 per day in the fiscal year 1931, according to statistics made available April 2 at the Treasury Department.

The average daily excess of expenditures over receipts during the present fiscal year is $6,855,000, while during the previous fiscal year it was $2,186, 000 for the period up to March 31, according to the information. The total deficit for the current fiscal year on March 31 was $1-885,283,000, a new high point. It rose from $1,861-772,000 on March 30 because of a draft for $20-000,000 drawn on the Treasury by the Post Office Department, the information revealed.

Additional information
made available follows:
Prior to the end of the month the deficit had receded slightly under the pressure of quarterly income tax collection. After reaching $1,876,463,000 on March 14, the day before the collections began, the deficit fell back to the low point for the month, $1,801-789,000, on March 19.

Up to the close of March the Government had collected $1,601,934,900 in revenue and spent $3,487,218-600 on running expenses. Its deficit, therefore, was 117 per cent of its total collections, and the average excess of expenditures over receipts for each of the 275 calendar days was $6,855-000.

Revenue has fallen off 34 per cent thus far in the fiscal year, and expenditures have increased 14 per cent.
These facts are reflected in the deficit for the first nine months of the preceding fiscal year, ending in March, 1931, which stood at $599-173,000 or $1,286,000,000 under the deficit on March, 1932.

The Post Office Department, whose draft for $20-000,000 on March 31 helped to send the deficit to its new record high on that day, has been one of the major drains on the Treasury during this fiscal year.
It has drawn a total of $145,000,000 to cover its deficiency on operating expenses.

Other major charges against the public funds have been general expenditures, $1,943,000,000; allocations to the sinking fund, $355,300,000; interest on the public debt $351-

BUY AT HOME—CHEAP-ER.

Corsicana is coming into her own. There was for a time a disposition on the part of the local merchants to give up to what was thought the lure of the large places. This possibility led some to be afraid to increase stocks, to cut off the lines in which it appeared the people were going to cities to buy.

But in the last year or two the local merchants have found out that prices of city stores on many items were high—so high in fact that these items could be sold lower here at a profit.

This has proven true in many places the size of Corsicana. The local merchants were the first to see the advantages in low overhead.
Consequently, in many different lines the buying public is coming to see in the Corsicana stores good items priced lower than the city stores have them marked.

And this tendency to look at the home display is made more common by the fact that our merchants and business men are using their home newspaper more than ever before to call attention to their goods and prices.

The fact is that we are all getting wise to the fact that we have satisfaction by dealing with home folks.
There is a wonderful satisfaction in this for all of us, if we stop to think about it.
The local business men—in a real sense—make the town better and in an indirect way make the whole

200,000; veterans' bonus fund, $200,000,000; the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, $163,500,000;
and the Federal Farm Board, $101,900,000.

Compared with the same period of the previous fiscal year the expenditures have been less this year for the sinking fund, interest on the public debt, the Farm Board and the bonus.
They have been greater for general operations, for the Post Office Department and for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which was not in existence last year.

On March 31 the gross public debt stood at $18-506,720,000, having increased $380,000,000 during the month. It was $18,125-000,000 at the end of February. Borrowings of the Government during this fiscal year have amounted to $7,686,000,000 or an average of $850,000,000 for each of the nine months.
This money has been used to cover the entire deficit and to refinance maturing obligations.

RAILROAD RELIEF

The limited freight rate increase granted on specified commodities by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the purpose of easing their credit situation has not proved a substantial contribution to the solution of the troubles of the railroads.

When the rail carriers asked for a flat 15 per cent boost in freight rates, the commission countered with a promise of modified increases on certain cargoes if the revenue they yielded were pooled and given to the roads in need. A compromise plan agreed upon granted some increases and provides for lending the yield to needy roads.

When the plan was under discussion the probable yield was estimated at $100,000,000. Returns to date indicate that estimate was optimistic by fully 50 per cent.

In the meantime the Railroad Credit Corporation has gone ahead approving loans on the basis of an annual yield of $100,000,000 without funds in hand to pay them. This has been able to do by leaning on the

poration.

countryside a better place in which to live.

Take Corsicana off the map and every farm within ten miles is worth less as a farm, and much less as a place to live.

The tendency to buy at home is growing stronger wherever the people are served by real business men, as is the case in Corsicana.
The good roads will make Corsicana—they have shown our merchants and our people how much lower the same goods can be handled here with its lower overhead charges.

If you have the habit of buying out of town at least give the local merchant a chance to sell you before looking elsewhere.

Former Dallas County Clerk Has Settled Shortage

DALLAS, April 15.—(P)—D. C.
Whitley, former Dallas county clerk, paid $2,373.48 into the county treasury late yesterday. The sum represented excise fees to which auditors said he was not entitled and additional shortages in the account of his former chief deputy, already under indictment for embezzlement. Auditors filed a report on Whitley's administration for 1930.

A month before filing of the auditors report Whitley had given the county $206,658 to cover preliminary disclosures of the shortage. E. L. Longmire, his former chief deputy, was at that time charged with the embezzlement and is still in the county jail awaiting trial.

SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS HEARS LOVE SUIT ARGUMENTS

TEST OF LEGALITY LOYALTY PLEDGE FOR DEMOCRATS BEFORE HIGH COURT

AUSTIN, April 16.—(P)—The Texas supreme court today took submission of a case brought by former Senator Thomas P. Love of Dallas to test legality of a fealty pledge ordered imposed on participants in the Democratic precinct presidential conventions May 7.

Love brought suit in a Dallas district court on invitation of the official board of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, challenging authority of the state Democratic executive committee to require one taking part in the conventions to pledge himself to support the party nominees for president and vice president.

The district court dismissed the suit, holding there were no statutes restricting the party managers in controlling political party affairs. Appeal was taken to the fifth court of civil appeals at Dallas and in order to hasten a final determination of the issue that tribunal certified the question of legality of the pledge of the court of last resort in Texas.

Arguments were heard by a nine-judge court, consisting of the three supreme court judges and the six members of the two commissions of appeals.

Briefs also were filed. It was announced and a decision was not possible before the court's next regular opinion day next Thursday, the court having adjourned after arguments were concluded until that date.

Senator Love appeared on behalf of his contention that action of the executive committee was unsupported by the statutes and the other side was presented by J. Hart Willis and Albert Sidney Johnson, both of Dallas. Johnson is secretary of the state executive committee.

Former Gov. Dan Moody plans to file a brief in support of Love's contention, it was announced.

Love told the court the trial court judgment "generally based upon the fact that the state executive committee, created by and controlled by the election law of Texas, has the power to do anything not expressly forbidden by statute."

"This is the antithesis of the sound position which is that any statutory creature whose powers are prescribed by statute, is, by necessary implication, prohibited from doing anything not included in the statutory powers or necessary incidental to the exercise of those powers," Love said.

Love contended that a study of Article 3167 of the constitution of construction of statutes "inhibits the 'prescription of any pledge as a condition of voting in presidential precinct primary conventions'."

Legislative intent that if the legislature had intended to allow the state executive committee composed of thirty-one members, in addition to selecting the place for holding the state convention, also require qualified voters desiring to participate in the presidential precinct primaries to sign an unconditional agreement to vote for the nominees in November, nor does it prescribe would have said so in the act just as it did say that the state executive committee should designate the place for holding the state convention and stop there? Love said, adding other interrogations including:

"Can there be any doubt that if the legislature had intended that in addition to being qualified voters of the state, those participating in the convention should also comply with such additional requirements as the state executive committee might see fit to promulgate, that the legislature would have said so in the act just as it did say that the qualified voters of each voting precinct shall assemble on the day named and hold the primary conventions?"

Would Have Said So.

"Can there be any doubt, whatever, under all of the canons of construction, and under the dictates of plain common sense, that if the legislature had intended that any person taking part in the 'certified list of the qualified voters' which the statute prescribes shall be used 'the same as is required in conducting a general election' should be denied the right to vote in the primary, would have said so, just as it did say that no person shall be permitted to vote or to participate in the business of such convention, until it is made to appear that a qualified voter in said precinct?"

Love said there was no doubt but that Article 3167 "provided for a system of presidential precinct primary conventions, in which the parties shall be held on the same day, and providing that it shall be a criminal offense for any voter to participate in the primary convention of more than one party, on the same day, and providing that a voter may abandon the convention of his own party and participate in that of another party, and in bad faith and for ulterior purposes, but the danger of this abuse, and its effect, are infinitesimal in comparison to the danger of allowing any man or set of men to pass upon the right of another man or woman to vote in the primary elections of the party of their choice, or, for instance, allowing a state executive committee composed of 31 members, many of them proxy representatives who do not reside in the district they represent without notice, to determine the conditions upon which a million Texas men and women shall be allowed to have a word to say with respect to the nomination of president and vice-president of the party whose candidates they have helped

Let Conscience Be Guide.

"Although the most rational means of ascertaining whether or not a man or woman is a democrat is to let each qualified voter speak on that subject for himself, while requiring that the precinct primary conventions of all political parties shall be held on the same day, and providing that it shall be a criminal offense for any voter to participate in the primary convention of more than one party, on the same day, and providing that a voter may abandon the convention of his own party and participate in that of another party, and in bad faith and for ulterior purposes, but the danger of this abuse, and its effect, are infinitesimal in comparison to the danger of allowing any man or set of men to pass upon the right of another man or woman to vote in the primary elections of the party of their choice, or, for instance, allowing a state executive committee composed of 31 members, many of them proxy representatives who do not reside in the district they represent without notice, to determine the conditions upon which a million Texas men and women shall be allowed to have a word to say with respect to the nomination of president and vice-president of the party whose candidates they have helped

Has Inherent Right.

Willis told the court that the Democratic party has the "inherent right, in the absence of a forbidding statute, to regulate and control its primary presidential conventions, including the requirement of an appropriate pledge of party membership, fealty and loyalty."

He said the Texas legislature has never by statute sought to prescribe the pledge to be exacted of participants in presidential primaries and has not sought to control the free action of the Democratic party in the matter of exacting pledges or party membership, fealty and loyalty.

"There being no provision of law indicating the proposed action of the state Democratic executive committee, no legal right of the appellant or proponent can be said to be threatened with impairment, and the courts have no authority to remit to the party forum," Willis said.

Not State Agency.

"The Democratic party is a political organization. It is not a state agency, but a free association of free citizens. It has the inherent right, in the absence of a forbidding statute, to determine the terms and conditions upon which citizens may participate in its primary conventions and primary elections."

He said the only article dealing with presidential primary conventions (Article 3167), is general in its terms, dealing with all political parties, that may desire to hold conventions.

"The holding of such conventions is not compulsory," he argued. "The statute does not deal with the question of pledge to determine party membership, fealty and loyalty. It leaves this question solely to political parties, that may choose to do so."

It states that parties participating in such conventions must be qualified voters of the state. "This would be true quite independent of the statute."

Must Be Democrat.

"The fact that the participant must be a qualified voter does not negate the thought that he must also, if he participates in a Democratic convention, be a Democrat. To hold otherwise would be to say that the legislature intended that a Republican could have the right to participate in a Democratic convention, and that a Democrat should have an equal right to participate in and control the action of the Republican convention. To sustain the position of Senator Love would be to open the Democratic presidential primary conventions to white and black Republicans who had no purpose other than to destroy the party whose primary conventions they were participating in. No such legislative intent is indicated. No such legislative intent is manifest from the statute."

"Under the law, a citizen to participate in primary elections must be a qualified voter; and, second, must take the prescribed pledge. A clear distinction is made in prescribing these two necessary and essential qualifications. In prescribing the right to hold presidential primary conventions the law making body does not attempt to determine more than that the participants shall be qualified voters. It leaves the question of the appropriate test to the governing bodies created by the political parties."

Leaves Question Open.

"In one instance a pledge is prescribed by statute, and that is the pledge in the other instance the legislature does not attempt to deal with the question of pledge, and thereby leaves that question to political action. In prescribing the pledge to be taken by participants in primary elections, the law making body prescribes that no ballot shall be counted that does not contain the appropriate pledge."

Johnson argued that the state does not have a vital interest in the presidential primary since the

WEATHERFORD MAN FLAYS POLICIES OF ADMINISTRATION

JUDGE BARTO HOOD SPEAKS IN CAMPAIGN FOR CONGRESS HERE SATURDAY

Playing the policies and actions of President Hoover and the Republican party, endorsing a rigid economy program, that would reduce the boards, commissions and committees in the national government and declaring he favored the payment of war debts and the bonus to the world war veterans, Judge R. Barto Hood of Weatherford, Saturday afternoon spoke in the interest of his candidacy for the democratic nomination as congressman-at-large No. 1 in the Thirteenth judicial district court-room here.

W. T. Parker, life-long friend of Judge Hood, presided, and the speaker was introduced by C. L. Jester.

Judge Hood seconded the nomination of Roger Q. Mills of Corsicana for U. S. Senator while he was in the Texas legislature.

Judge Jester said the speaker of the afternoon was a high type of citizen and was typically American. Hood was a schoolmate of Governor "Alfalfa" Bill Murray of Oklahoma.

Mr. Hood paid a high tribute to the late Roger Q. Mills of Corsicana.

The candidate served two years in the Texas legislature, was prosecuting attorney for four years and was county democratic chairman for four years.

"The government should be administered frugally," the speaker declared, "and said it had drifted away from the early days program of economy. It was pointed out that when Washington, D. C., became the capital of the United States, there was 6,000,000 people in the nation and there was only one governmental employee. There are 120,000,000 residents of the nation at the present time, and there are more than 1,000,000 drawing salaries from the government, averaging $4,000 per year, exclusive of the Army and Navy branches. He charged the boards, commissions and committees were created for political reasons for the benefit of the lame ducks, and as a remedy he suggested that at least half the bureaus, etc., be abolished, and the others have the salaries and expenses curtailed.

Mr. Hood declared that the bureau boards, etc., had become so well organized they had reached the point where they defied Congress, but the way to stamp them out was to cut off their salaries. The speaker flayed the Hoover administration, and said three years ago everything was promised by the Republican who claimed Hoover was a business man and would have a great administration. Judge Hood said the answer was "everybody is broke."

He said Hoover was claimed to be a civil engineer, but that everything Hoover had engineered was the consolidations of big corporate officers are nominated in the July primary.

The presidential convention is concerned only with national officers and does not nominate state officers," Johnson said. "The law specifically says that the president and vice-president may be held and does not make it compulsory. The statute does not require the holding of a state convention in September to nominate state officers."

"Texas' right to presidential delegates in the national convention depends on that convention. That convention could bar the Texas delegation entirely if it saw fit. It is purely a matter for determination by the party itself."

Seven Submarines Reach Galveston For Ten-Day Stay

GALVESTON, April 18.—(P)—Seven United States submarines arrived here today from Cocos Sol, Panama Canal zone, for a 10-day stay. The rescue ship Mallard was delayed by engine trouble and will arrive tonight. The S-10 was undergoing repairs when the squadron sailed and will come in next week.

porations, and not any work for the toiling masses of America. "The greatest trouble with the present times is the outrageous taxes and governmental extravagances," Judge Hood declared. He favors a tariff on oil to prohibit the shipment of oil from South America and other countries to the Atlantic seaboard. Today's hearing was devoted largely to argument over tests the companies wished to make of their wells to determine oil-gas ratios.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the railroad commission and Assistant Attorney General Fred Upchurch represented the commission at today's hearing. They were extended conferences over the proposed tests.

Both sides finally acceded to the judge's decision to allow several varying test runs at the well. The test was to be a six-hour test at the rate of 75 barrels daily to a one-hour test at the rate of 500 barrels daily.

The present allowable in the field is about one barrel daily. Unchurched insisted that excess oil run in making the tests should be followed by restrictions to provide a proper average flow.

Judge Bryant said the matter could be raised after the trial on the merits of the case May 30. Reminded that several other companies were seeking injunctions against the commission, the judge asked if the companies intended they had violated or intended to violate prohibition orders. He was told there was none except their applications for restraining orders.

He then said he would not act at this time on any such petitions for injunctions. He said 15 evidence appeared that any companies planned to violate prohibition orders he would grant the railroad commission an injunction prohibiting such violations.

TYLER, April 18.—(P)—Attorneys for six oil companies, Assistant Attorney General Fred Upchurch, Chairman C. V. Terrell of the railroad commission, and others interested conferred today with Federal Judge Randolph Bryant of litigation resulting from the commission's prohibition orders. The six companies some time ago were granted injunctions in federal court restraining enforcement of the commission's orders. The commission secured a counter order of prohibition in excess of the allowances it prescribed.

Joe Bailey, Jr., one of the attorneys for the operators, insisted that the companies did not wish to produce more oil than allowed by the commission but desired to make tests determining the oil-gas ratio of the wells and other similar matters.

The judge made a considerable technical argument over details.

Navarro Study Club Met Last Wednesday In Regular Session

NAVARRO, April 18.—(Spl.)—The Study Club met in its regular session Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Tom Weldon of Corsicana.

Minutes of previous meetings were read and roll call was answered with sayings of famous Texans.

Miss Evelyn McMaster opened the program with a very interesting paper and pictures on "Texas Trees," after which Mrs. Hester Parks gave a discussion of "Texas Parks." Guests of the club were Mrs. Tom Weldon of Corsicana and Mesdames C. C. Hutson and Roy Moore. Mrs. Weldon favored the meeting with a most pleasing talk about Texas Rocks. The club was glad indeed to have these guests and appreciated Mrs. Weldon's discussion very much.

After this delightful program a short business session was held in which a committee was appointed and the members of the club were asked to bring to the high school a delicious salad and sweet course was served by the hostesses. The next meeting will be in the home of Miss Anna Williamson with Mrs. Clyde Lupes co-hostess.

Farming-Gardening At Standstill Due Drought at Malakoff

MALAKOFF, April 18.—(Spl.)—Farming is at a standstill in many parts of the county now, or about so, due to the drought or dryness of the land. Some of the corn is now up to a good stand and very little of the cotton has been planted and will not be planted until it rains to bring it up.

Truck growing is also being delayed by the lack of rainfall in the county.

Owing to the rain and cold some time back, the crops of this county are from 20 to 30 days late and none of the crops are now doing any good or growing on account of the lack of moisture in the land. Some of the garden stuff will not come up and some that is up is about to die due to dry weather and to the cold nights.

FEDERAL JUDGE REFUSES DISSOLVE OIL INJUNCTION

TOLD ATTORNEYS FOR SIX EAST TEXAS COMPANIES CASE MUST BE TRIED

TYLER, April 16.—(P)—Federal Judge Randolph Bryant today told attorneys for six oil companies operating in East Texas that he would not dissolve temporary injunctions preventing them from exceeding allowances prescribed by the Texas railroad commission.

The judge said the cases would be tried on their merits May 30. "I do not feel," he said, "that taking the personal responsibility of disturbing conditions in the East Texas oil field at this time, pending the outcome of the three judge court decision on May 30, but at the same time, I do not desire to deprive plaintiffs nor the court of the right to accumulate evidence."

The six companies some time ago granted an injunction restraining enforcement of the commission's orders. The commission then asked and obtained a counter-order preventing the companies from producing more oil than the commission's allowances. Today's hearing was devoted largely to argument over tests the companies wished to make of their wells to determine oil-gas ratios.

Powell Women In All-Day Juiting At Sid Mayo Home

POWELL, April 18.—(Spl.)—So long as women are mothers, wives and daughters, they will continue to weave into the fabric of their lives the essence of the joys and sorrows, their hopes and their disappointments, and out of the vital ways of so doing is by making quilts. Final and satisfying outlet of expression of late years there has been a revival of unusual recurrence of this ancient and homely duty, and many beautiful quilts have resulted.

Near Kereens, Mrs. Sid Mayo, whose congenial and hospitable home is always open to her friends, was the scene of an unusual gathering last Wednesday. More than fifty women met there and upstairs and downstairs and in many large parlors were quilts. In all seven and they were all finished that day, and these women earned their dinners, and such a dinner! Fried chicken, boiled potatoes, and every imaginable good thing and from 11 o'clock until 3, dinner was served and all along such an interchange of thought, such pleasant associations. Not soon, will the occasion be forgotten.

Among those present were Mesdames A. L. Renfro, W. T. Black, Hugh Dodson, John McRaney, Bob Lowe, Carlton Dobbs, Will Jackson, Ben Slay, E. L. McJannet, Doris Thornton, Sidney Johnston, C. W. Reagan, Hoyt Dixon, Roy Reagan, G. T. Rawlinson, Turman Alsop, Ramon Wylie, Harris Mayo, H. H. Hoken, Willard Mayo, F. E. Massey, N. F. Patten, Frank Patten, C. D. Mays, G. A. Misses Jennie Rawmon, Myrtle Mayo, Esther Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. John Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Slay, Messrs. Turman Alsop, Currie Mayo, Hardy Mayo, Jud Mayo and Mesdames Henry Bunch, Tom Ferguson, Viola Washam, Homer Ware, Roy Bunch of Powell.

Advocates have spent more than a week in presenting their contentions that inflation of the currency is the only way to bring about a return to normal business conditions. Numerous representatives, both republican and democratic, have joined in the protest, and some veterans organizations in favoring it, although democratic and republican leaders have expressed opposition to it. Henry L. Stevens, national commander of the American Legion, has opposed it, also.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Final arguments for cashing the soldiers' bonus today began before the House Ways and Means committee by advocates marshaled by Representative Patman (D., Tex.).

Patman told the committee he hoped to conclude shortly after noon, enabling the opposition to the two billion dollar payment to begin tomorrow morning.

After the opposition concludes, Patman said, the majority will present a money expansion plan will present Former Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, in rebuttal.

David V. Addy of Detroit, representing the Wayne County council of Michigan, was the first witness. "Detroit has suffered greater injury from bad economic conditions than any other area," Addy testified.

Detroit has spent $25,000,000 in welfare, and this does not include the huge sums spent by private charities.

Addy said 400,000 persons in Detroit are dependent, at least partly on charity.

"Under the circumstances, these men look to the adjusted service certificates as their last resort. "Sentimental attachment to the payment has grown rapidly in Michigan."

Addy estimated that 15 to 20 per cent of Detroit's unemployed are veterans.

W. D. Jackson, spokesman for the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen, said relief measures so far enacted by Congress have not helped business.

"We feel that the bonus should be paid immediately. If you pay this bonus you will do just in part what you already have done for the railroads and big corporations," Jackson said.

"This bonus will create new purchasing power and be the greatest thing to help conditions this congress could do."

Representative Sweeney (D., of Ohio) testified that his constituents for the bonus payment, that Ohio would receive $117,000,000 if the payment were made.

Representatives Patterson and Allgood, Alabama democrats, also endorsed the Patman bill.

Vocational Students In A&M Competition

COLLEGE STATION, April 18.—(P)—Students of vocational agriculture from virtually every part of Texas thronged the Texas A. and M. College campus today for the fifteenth annual Smith-Hughes contests.

In addition to the 1,344 competing students from 139 high schools, there were 150 teachers of vocational agriculture present.

Competition in the seven events on the program were arranged to today. The contests will be announced tonight. Competition was in dairy judging, livestock judging, poultry and egg judging, farm shop work, entomology, soil conservation and plant production.

Over 120 teams entered in the dairy judging event.

DROWNED IN SURF

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(P)—One bather drowned and 194 others were rescued from heavy surf along Southern California beaches yesterday. The drowned man, Guy Forbes of Los Angeles, was caught in an undertow near El Segundo.

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(P)—The glow of five open hearth furnaces lighted the skies here early today signalling the return of more than 5,000 ratepayers to their jobs after a lay-off of several weeks.

PITTSBURGH, April 18.—(P)—Stable prices and an increase in orders gave encouragement to the steel industry in the Pittsburgh district today. The mills are operating at about 25 per cent of capacity.

Steel men here say wages probably will be maintained at their present level. A cut in wages, they say, probably would encourage buyers to withhold orders, anticipating a reduction in prices. To cause orders to be withheld would be "suicide," one observer explained.

DRIVE FOR FEDERAL ECONOMY WAS HEARD IN BOTH BRANCHES

HOUSE COMMITTEE ADOPTS PRESIDENT HOOVER'S RE-TRENCHMENT PLANS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—The drive for government economy reverberated on both sides of the capitol today while committees atop the stock market, taxes and the bonus.

President Hoover's proposal for consideration of a government re-trenchment program in one omnibus bill was adopted by the house economy committee. It rejected the plan of Chairman McDuffie for a separate wage cut measure.

Meanwhile the Senate neared a vote on the McKellar proposal to slash the billion dollar treasury-postoffice appropriation bill by ten per cent as an economy measure. Earlier, Senator Logan (D., Ky.) proposed creation of a "national commission" to reorganize the government.

Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, continued his explanation of the operation of the market before the senate banking committee. A list of short sellers he gave the committee contained a number of nationally prominent names.

A group of automobile manufacturers, including Edsel Ford, Walter Chrysler and George M. Graham, told the senate finance committee a sales tax on the industry would be burdensome.

Proponents of cash payment of the soldiers' bonus finished their testimony before the house ways and means committee. Opponents will be heard beginning tomorrow.

McKellar Denies Aid Given Smith Petition

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), denied the testimony of a testimony by William Wolf Smith, veterans' bureau counsel, that McKellar was among those who interested themselves in Smith's application for retired officers' pay. "So far as I am concerned," McKellar told the senate, "that statement is without the slightest foundation in fact. I demand that Mr. Smith correct his testimony."

Pull off shoes and stockings. Put your feet into a basin of hot water for one minute, scrubbing them all over with a hand scrubbing brush and soap. Dry quickly, and cover them with oil. If you are in a hurry, never mind the scrubbing, though it makes the treatment more effective, because it opens the pores at once and lets the oil soak into the skin.

The hot towels, also, remove the surface oil, so you need have no fear of your stockings staining, or your bed clothes, if you try this treatment just before retiring. Yet some of the oil is taken up by the skin, which remains softer for it. And it is a fine way to keep corns from hurting and to soften the hard, callous skin of the corns.

STOCK MARKET IN UNCERTAIN MOOD MONDAY OPENING

STOCKS WERE BOLSTERED BY RIPPLE OF BUYING AFTER MORNING SAG

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—The stock market had a quiet opening today, carrying over the uncertainty of the 1929-32 decline, but trading volume was not as low as it was in the previous week. The market was well under a million shares but there were several net losses of one to four points. The closing tone was heavy.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—The stock market wobbled uncertainly at the start of the new week today.

While improved sentiment in banking and brokerage circles which developed last week was still apparent, the week end business and trade reports failed to banish the cautious attitude toward stocks and trading was sluggish. Even the bond market, after the sweeping gains of last week, was given a breathing spell.

After a morning sag which carried some stocks to new lows, the list was bolstered for a time by a ripple of buying in the rails.

The market turned heavy again by early afternoon, however, American Telephone sagged 2 points to a new low since 1921. It then recovered partially. U. S. Steel sagged a point to 34-1/2 before meeting support. Eastman dropped 3 points and Coca Cola 2. Ralls up a point or so included Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, Union Pacific and Santa Fe.

But in the main these advances were short lived. The rails received some stimulation from early reports of March earnings. Chesapeake & Ohio made a particularly favorable showing with net operating income of $2,866,022, a gain of about $500,000 over a year previously. Other favorable aspects of the railroad outlook were indications of further consolidation in the Eastern trunkline companies and the interstate commerce commission's special report urging coordination of railway and motor traffic.

Reports from the steel industry indicated a slight pickup in production this week, with a little excitement in buying by automobile makers.

Curb Trade Smaller.
NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—Trading on the curb diminished substantially today. Price changes, as a rule, were unimportant, although the market was able to steady after a mild reaction early in the first hour.

A moderate amount of stock appeared for sale at the opening, bringing fractional reactions in a number of leaders. When this had been cleaned up, however, the market appeared inclined to follow the decline further and more cheerful tone developed, with leaders recovering their losses.

Activity again was most pronounced in the utility sector. Electric Bond and Share, after dropping a full point, returned to the neighborhood of Saturday's final quotation. Northern States Power stocks did especially well. Commonwealth Edison sold lower.

The decline in the utility service earnings last year, when net totaled $63,106,000 against $48,862,000 in 1930, was attributed almost entirely to demoralized conditions in the oil industry.

Changes in oil industry and specialties were mostly small. Little interest was taken in the oils.

Search for Negro Who Killed White Man in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, April 18.—(AP)—A hundred men with blood hounds searched a swamp 30 miles above New Orleans today for a Negro who shot a white man to death, wounding eight negroes and another white man.

Without warning, the negro armed with an automatic shot and two revolvers, appeared yesterday at the drag line machine at work on the Bonnet Carré spillway and opened fire, instantly killing John Hanev of Algiers, and narrowly missing his helper, G. Dunkel.

The negro then fled toward La Branche where he shot and wounded a merchant. Next he attacked a group of nine negroes and wounded all but one. He then disappeared in a swamp.

The negro, unidentified, had lived in a hut near the spillway.

Humble Joins Other Companies in Cutting

HOUSTON, April 18.—(AP)—The Humble oil refining company announced today that it had purchased and produced East Texas crude oil at the rate of 62 barrels per well daily effective tomorrow, the company announced today.

On Friday the Texas Railroad Commission reduced the per well allowable from 71 to 67 barrels daily. Saturday the Magnolia company announced it would produce and purchase at the rate of 62 barrels per well daily.

Herbert Scales Is Facing Trial Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 18.—(AP)—Four jurors had been selected this afternoon to try Herbert Scales of Dallas, Texas, and Ralph Anderson of Chicago, charged with the $20,000 Union Planter National bank robbery here May 4, 1931. Testimony was expected to begin tomorrow.

TWO DIE IN PLANE CRASH.
LIVERMORE, Maine, April 18.—(AP)—Two men were killed today when their small airplane crashed on the bank of the Androscoggin river and burst into flames.

The dead are James Malloy, of Berlin, N.J., pilot and owner of the plane, and Fred Maxwell, of Livermore.

School teams from Hill, Navarro, Ellis, Johnston and Bosque counties competed.

Hillsboro high school won third honors with 15 points, closely pressed by Cleburne in fourth place with 13 points.

ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION IS DEMANDED BY WOMEN

WOMEN'S NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT MEET IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—The enforcement of prohibition and ample appropriations to carry it out were demanded today by the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement meeting here.

These demands, expressed in resolutions adopted by the committee's executive body, were carried to congress at noon by hundreds of women prohibition supporters, headed by Mrs. Henry W. Flood of Massachusetts and Florida.

The resolutions declared "we deplore persistent attack on the constitution, the supreme law, by minority in congress, sworn to support and defend the law who are acting in the interest of the return of the outlawed liquor traffic."

Opposition to repeal of the 18th amendment, modification of any weakening of the Volstead Act also was expressed in the resolution which was to be presented by a committee to Speaker Cannon and President Curtis.

The Women's National committee made the suggestion that ambassadors to foreign countries be instructed that they represent the interests and government of America and are under the protection of the American flag which "involves their respect for our constitutional law and their observance and defense of that law while they are in office."

The proposal, presented by the delegations of Spain, Belgium, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Norway, Estonia and Uruguay, provided that successive stages of disarmament be achieved through revisions of the arms reduction convention, at short intervals.

It was supported by the French and Polish delegations and by Sir John Simon, Naotake Sato and Dino Grandi, chiefs of the British, Japanese and Italian delegations.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson remained at his villa today, confined there by a slight cold and there was great disappointment among the delegates and spectators when he did not appear at the meeting of the conference.

debts. Because this runs contrary to the administration position, as it became evident after the decision of the congressionally voted against revision, the turn of events will be followed extremely close henceforth.

The great powers of Europe will meet at Lausanne, Switzerland, in June to decide primarily what shall be done about reparations. Germany has said she cannot continue payments, the first due July 15, and has been supported in that position by international economists who met at Basle and analyzed German finances.

Consequently the Lausanne meeting will have for its first task the decision as to what is to be done about Germany's prospective early default.

Much of the money which other powers have been paying on debts to the United States has been obtained from Germany. Consequently a discontinuance of German payments will compel nations which do not default in payments to the United States to find other means of raising these sums.

Great Britain is the chief debtor of the United States and in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, must make payment aggregating $171,500,000. For the same period other powers are obligated to pay: France 60,000,000; Germany, $15,700,000; Italy $14,780,000; Belgium, $8,450,000.

Motor Vehicles

state commerce is desirable in the public interest.

The commission's decision brings to a close an investigation which has been under way for five years. Leo J. Flynn, an examiner, who conducted the investigation, several months ago submitted a proposed recommendation of regulation of trucks and buses.

The commission's decision carries out his recommendations to a large extent.

Asserting that the federal government is wholly inexperienced in this field of regulation, the commission said it deemed "it wise to make haste slowly."

"Our recommendation is, therefore," said the report, "that congress provide at once to put regulation to the test so far as transportation of passengers by motor buses is concerned to provide an organization which would serve as a nucleus for such further steps in motor vehicle regulation as experience and added information might show to be desirable and practicable."

Would Exercise Authority.

"We also recommend that immediate authority be exercised over motor trucks of both the common carrier and contract type to the extent necessary to locate those which are operating in interstate commerce and obtain from them such information in regard to their operations as the commission may reasonably require."

"In this way data will be secured which, as the legal situation clarifies, will be of great aid in pointing the way to further regulation in the public interest."

"Our recommendations, therefore, be regarded in the light of a progress report. They do not cover the entire field, but they will ultimately prove necessary and desirable in the way of federal regulation of motor vehicles. They represent merely the first step which we believe is wise and practicable to take under existing conditions."

Chairman Rayburn of the house interstate commerce committee said his group had been waiting for the commission report before giving further consideration to regulation of buses and trucks.

Requests Bill.

"I made a request for a bill affecting both bus and truck regulation based on the commission findings," the Texas Democrat said. "Meanwhile, the house interstate commerce committee has reported out the bill repealing the reciprocal clause of the transportation act of 1920 and this week we expect to report to the house a bill to place railroad holding companies under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission."

"Bus and truck regulation will be our next order of business. The house interstate commerce committee in the last congress reported a bill to regulate buses but in this congress it has waited to see what action the senate would take. Now we will consider both buses and trucks."

Rayburn said his committee had realized the necessity for regulation of bus and truck transportation operating in interstate commerce for some time but had preferred to obtain the report from the interstate commerce commission before going ahead in order to have detailed information before it.

"Personally," the Texan said, "I think that legislation to put out of business a competitor is never justified, but the competitor should be placed under the same reasonable regulation as the carrier with which it competes."

Supreme Court To Review Decision Oil And Gas Tax

HIGHEST TRIBUNAL CLEARS DOCKET OF SEVERAL PETITIONS ON MONDAY

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(P)—The supreme court formally dismissed several cases today that it previously had indicated it would not consider and passed on numerous petitions for review of new contests.

Michigan and South Carolina won, temporarily, at least, the attacks brought against their motor vehicle and electric power tax laws. The court threw out cases brought against them, deciding that lower courts had not yet passed on the question.

After dismissing a few other cases, the court turned to the stack of petitions for review before it. Those it granted will be argued and probably decided later. Those refused will be governed by the ruling of the last highest court.

Petitions for review passed on included:

Granted: The contest by the commissioner of internal revenue of a ruling that bonus received by owner of oil and gas land in Texas for executing an oil and gas lease was taxable at lower rates than ordinary income.

Hanging

the prairie country here for a while thwarted the intentions of the mob which hanged Richard Read early today.

A witness, who declined to permit use of his name, said it was necessary to go about five miles from the scene of the death of Dorothy Hunter to find a tree.

As the caravan arrived, the motor cars in it were deployed about the tree in a circle, the headlights supplying the light by which the mob carried out its preparations. The alleged attacker was bound by barbed wire.

"If it wasn't for liquor," Read said, "I wouldn't have done it. I would not do it again."

He asked that his watch be given to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Read, who live three miles northeast of Rexford.

The mob dispersed rapidly after the hanging.

Negro Demonstration Agent Shows Making Of Cheese In Home

The colored women's home demonstration council met Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Dr. Lister's office, with President J. B. Hines presiding. Roll call was answered by giving helpful hints on use of milk in the diet.

The club leaders made reports of work done in their several communities, a garden work done, baby chicks hatched, etc. Plans were made and effected for a county club encampment to be held in July in Corsicana, also a county quilt show to be held in June.

Seven different clubs were represented at the council. The agency made a demonstration in making cottage cheese and American cheese, which was interesting to the members and each one expressed delight in knowing how and that it can be done so easily with homemade molds.

Books on cheese making, gardening and diseases of poultry were distributed.

Our next meeting will be the third Saturday in May, at which time our state supervisor, Mrs. I. W. Rowan, will make the major demonstration.—Reporter.
